Frontpage - Parekh, Karnik and Achuthan placed on Satyam board

Publication: Financial Express

Provider: The Indian Express Online Media Ltd

January 12, 2009

Taking rapid action to stem the Satyam rot and send a message to investors and observers across the globe, the central government announced the appointment of three eminent personalities on the board of Satyam Computer Services Limited. They are, Deepak Parekh, chairman, HDFC Bank, Kiran Karnik, former president of Nasscom, and C Achutan, former Sebi member—all three have the right credentials to address the issue on hand. Industry and market participants have applauded the decision to put a top banker, an IT expert and a market investigator on the company's board.

The newly appointed board will meet within 24 hours (before Monday noon) to take stock of the situation. According to Premchand Gupta, minister of company affairs, the board's immediate task is not to look for a strategic buyer but restore the company's credibility, customer confidence and employee morale, besides safeguarding the interest of Satyam's employees, investors and other stakeholders.

Achuthan said the team's top priority would be to put the scam-tainted IT company back on the rail and ensure that the guilty are not spared. "The first step in the board meeting would be to evolve a strategy on how to go ahead and restore the damaged image of the company," When contacted, Deepak Parekh said it was too early to comment on the situation.

Meanwhile, Ganesh Natarajan, chairman, Nasscom, was emphatic in his response, he said, "I think the combination of these three people is the best in terms of delivering corporate governance and organising government finance and equity. The next set of members should be those with experience of managing large multinational companies especially in operations and those that can attract finance."

"The board members bring a lot of confidence to the market and this will be seen as a positive. Though the valuation for Satyam is still under a cloud," said Dharmesh Mehta, head of equities with Enam Securities. The equities market has seen the Satyam stock take a huge plunge and also pull down the markets by 8% since the scam broke out. Sudip Bandopadhyay, CEO and director with Reliance Money, reckons that it will give investors a lot of hope. "The speed with which the government has reacted is a strong positive."

Prithvi Haldea of Prime Database thinks that the appointment of people who can make a difference to the situation is a welcome move. "There could have been political appointments as well, but this is political and pragmatic," he added.

Even the peers in the technology business were positive. Wipro executive director and chief financial officer Suresh Senapaty told FE, "We believe this will help restore confidence of all stakeholders and the international community." Similar statements were issued by Infosys team members.

However, analysts point out that now with the Centre calling the shots in the Satyam affair, state institutions that have investment and exposures in Satyam would not take any independent decisions on the issue, without consulting the government. To that extent, the institutions are relieved. Thomas Mathew, managing director, Life Insurance Corporation said, "The situation has changed positively after the government intervention and the formation of a new board with prominent professionals. With this kind of people at the helm, we are now confident that company would be put in the right course very soon." He refused to comment on the rumours that institutions were gathering together to get a better position on the board.

Mathew also denied that the corporation, with over 4% stake, will demand a board-level representation or is talking to other institutional players who have stakes in LIC. According to him, the corporation is not in a hurry to exit the Satyam portfolio as it is a long-term investment.

All eyes are now trained on the board to know the course of action. Lazard Brothers has been known to have expressed an intention to be on the board and is rallying support.

Whenever you click in the search field, a Mega Menu will appear with several filters you can use to make your search more precise.

The search filters the Mega Menu are:

B Search All Text, Search Title Only, Title and Abstract Only:

- This is a radio button search. You might choose here in which part of the item's text you want to search. The default is search all text, which means that your keywords can appear in any part of the item.

C Document Format:

- This is a multi-selection dropdown. Here you can select what kind of document formats should be displayed among the results. Please note that your choice might also result in no results from several content types. E.g. we do not have company profiles in pdf format. This is also valid for some other dropdowns like Sources or Topic. By default everything is unselected meaning that you will search in all items regardless of its format.

D Regions and Countries:

- This is a multi-selection dropdown allowing you to search in all countries of your subscription. By default the country of the current product is selected, but you might add or remove any countries or regions you want.

E Language:

- Here you might select the language(s) of the items you search for. The default is the language of the countries selected (e.g. in case of Russia and Brazil you will see English, Russian and Portuguese languages), but you might remove any of these languages.

F Industries

- You will see items tagged to the industries of your choice. By default nothing is selected.

G Publication Types:

- Here you can select what kind of items you want to see: News, Statistics, Press Releases etc. By default you will see all kind of publications.

H Sources:

- Based on your selections, you will see items in results from the sources you are interested in. Like Banks/Brokerage Houses if you are interested in Stock Exchanges or Central Banks if you are interested in the monetary policy of the country. By default you will see items from all sources.

I Topic:

- Here you might select Topics you are interested in like Economy, Market Forecast, M&A Deals and many more. By default everything is unselected

J Save this Search:

- When you will type a keyword in the search box, you will get automatic Company, Industry and Topic suggestions. If you click on one of them, you will be navigated directly to that page instead of the search results. E.g. Tata Motors. company profile in case you started typing motor.

Boolean Search Operators and Search Functionalities

Both within the search bar and in the .Refine Search. view in the results page, you are allowed to use Boolean operators. These are:

Operators	Examples
AND	Using AND means that you want all keywords with AND between them within the search results. So, if you search for telecom AND industry AND growth you will get hits containing all 3 words. Please note that AND is the default Boolean operator we use (except in Chinese language, where OR is the default), so if you do not add any other operators between keywords, we consider that you want to see all keywords in the results. If you type telecom industry for instance, it is equivalent to telecom AND industry.
OR	telecom OR industry This search will retrieve articles that contain either the word telecom or industry or both.
NOT	telecom NOT industry This search will retrieve articles that contain the word telecom, but not industry.
NEAR	internet nearN banking (where N is an integer) This search will retrieve articles that contain Internet within N words (or less) of the keyword Banking. Note: The N is optional; if omitted, the number 10 is assumed. Values must be 1 or more.
Parentheses ()	Use parentheses () to separate search operators. Take for instance, a search such as the following: (PE OR "private equity") AND ITES This search will retrieve articles containing any of the words (phrases) in within the parentheses, and the word ITES.
*	bank* This will retrieve articles containing words derived from bank: bank, banks, banking, banker, etc. It can be used only at the end of words.
?	The ? operator will substitute for any character . Use ? to search for words which can be spelled in different ways. For example: if you search for organi?ation, the search will retrieve results containing either organisation or organization.
%, $, £, ¥, ., +	These special characters are considered in search, so if you will search for $100, your search results will not contain words without "$".
Stemming	When you are doing a single language search, we enable stemming. Stemming means that we find your keyword.s root form and we will search for all keywords with the similar root. For example: If you search for manufacturing, you will get results with the following keywords: manufacturing, manufacture, manufacturer, manufacturers etc. If you want to turn off stemming, put your keywords into quotation marks. Stemming is by default turned off in the following languages: Turkish, Hungarian

Please note that if you use any Boolean items in search, those are always treated as Boolean operators and not as keywords unless you put them into quotation marks. E.g. if you search for has not confirmed, you will get results containing has, but not confirmed. If you search for .has not confirmed., you will get articles containing the exact phrase has not confirmed.
